

GUNFIGHT FROM THE PASSENGER SEAT ★ PAGE 60

MARCH 2010

VOLUME 34, NUMBER 3

POLICE

THE LAW ENFORCEMENT MAGAZINE

$5.00

SWAT SAVES LIVES WITH LESS-LETHAL WEAPONS

DR. BILL LEWINSKI ON FORCE SCIENCE

THE PERILS
OF PARKING ENFORCEMENT

BEST OF SHOW

A wide variety of law enforcement products took a bow this year in Las Vegas.

POLICE Magazine Staff

This year's SHOT Show was held in the Sands Convention Center in Las Vegas, and the floorplan was a nightmare for all attendees and exhibitors. Still, the show offered a rich variety of new and interesting law enforcement products.

Once again .380 ACP pistols seemed to be the hot item at this year's show. Speculation about the popularity of these weapons centered on the cost of ammo, the need for CCW firearms among the public and law enforcement, and the cool factor of carrying a high-quality pistol that fits in the palm of the shooter's hand.

But there was a lot more to see at this year's SHOT Show than backup weapons. Glock announced a major facelift of its duty pistols, Bushmaster launched a new combat rifle, and numerous companies pumped out cool police products.

Here's a quick look at some of our favorites.

WOOLRICH ★ ELITE OUTERWEAR

WOOLRICH has expanded its Elite Outerwear line to include a fleece vest and jacket, a short-sleeve CCW shirt, and a long-sleeve Oxford CCW shirt. The fleece vest and jacket are great for layering and make a great complement to Woolrich's Waterproof Breathable Parka. They are made of a 100-percent polyester fleece shell with ripstop nylon trim. Both feature large cargo pockets with zipper closures and accessory loops. A two-way side seam zipper provides ventilation. The short-sleeve CCW shirt is great for undercover or off-duty wear. It has a horizontal welt chest pocket with hook and loop closure, a false button with a discreet magnetic closure, and a straight cut bottom. The long-sleeve Oxford CCW has many of the same features as the short-sleeve version plus two-layer pockets for holding magazines. ☉

www.policemag.com/freeinfo/13339